Many Happenings of Interest in Bellefonte and Centre County.

WASHINGTON SOCIAL A SUCCESS

It was Held by the Students of the Bellefonte High School Last Friday Night—Academy Students Read an Interesting School Paper Friday.

OTHER HAPPENINGS OF A WEEK

Another of the popular entertainments, given by the students of the High school, was held at the brick building Friday evening. It was termed a "Washington Social" and was given by the Junior class, and reflected great credit upon those having the matter in charge. The large school room was handsomely decorated with flags, bunting and little hatchets in various colors, were tastily arranged about the walls. Hanging pendly at one end of the room was a large new flag, made by the members of the class in their colors, blue and white. The progam was as follows :

1. Piano Duet, Miss Shields, and Miss Brown.
2. Vocal duet ; Mrs. Calvin Meyer, Miss Elsie Weaver.
3. Piano duett; Miss Bettie Seibert, Miss Ethel Gettig.
4. Black Faced Specialty ; Mr. Louis Daggett and Mr. Guy McIntyre.
5. Recitation, "Washington;" by Master Donald Gettig.
6. Vocal duet ; Miss Bradley, and Mr. Jno. Bullock.
7. Quartette, Miss Edith Graham, Miss Henrietta Butts, Miss Elsie Weaver and Mrs. Meyer.

The program while short, was an excellent one, each and every participant receiving most hearty applause. Guy McIntyre who had come down from State College to take part in the entertainment, proved that he had lost nothing of his cunning, as a commedian, for in the black faced speciality, he and Mr. Louis Daggett, certainly eclipsed all previous efforts, as the tumultuous applause testified.

Little Donald Gettig, in his recitation on Washington, won much admiration for himself by his easy manner of reciting.

Quite a number of students from the College were present. Excellent ice cream and delicious cake were served in the class room and the tables were presided over by the girls of the class, assisted by some of the young men. Delicious home-made candy was sold at a table in the large room. We do not know just how much was realized clear of expenses but believe that about $45, was taken in. What had been a "feature" of the socials on former occasions, (the dancing,) was not indulged Friday evening, much to the disappointment of many. Several attempts were made to do so by those who had almost uncontrolable dancing feet but, it was promptly put an end to by Prof. Meyer, who in a little speech to the audience, gave good and decided reasons for not allowing this indulgence.

THE ACADEMY MIRROR.

On Friday afternoon Feb. 19, the Academy annual, "The Mirror," was read before a large and appreciative audience of students. teachers and friends, of the school. The mirror is the comic paper of the Academy which contains scores of hits and jokes upon the students which have happened during the preceding year and in addition many articles upon the current questions of the day.

Some fifty artistic pen sketches illustrating the funny incidents of the year add interest to the paper.

The cover contains a very pretty water-color picture of the Mt. Vernon Home where George and Martha Washington, are entertaining the editorial staff. This pen and water color work is something extra fine and was executed by the staff artist Robert Valentine,

The reading of the paper was in part interspersed by interesting exercises by the primary and intermediate departments under the direction of Miss Overton Robert Walker, Mildred Locke and Edmund Joseph made hits in recitation and song, while the "Topsy Turvy" song by the intermediate girls and the calisthenic drill by both primary and intermediate classes won rounds of applause. Tis needless to say that the Mirror jokes kept the school in a constant state of laughter.

The paper was read by Mr. Jas. R. Hughes and Stanley Valentine. The editors were : Elliott Vandevanter, Mahaffey Ferguson, Blair Holzworth, Stanley Valentine, Morris Walter, Earle Leathers, Louis Daggett, George Tapper, John Rankin, Raymond Acheson. Miss Anne Orvis and Miss Elizabeth Ardell.

WHERE IS CHARLES O. WACHOB?

He Owes Six or Eight Hundred Dollars for Cattle Shipped from Oak Hall.

Two scores or more farmers in Harris, College and Ferguson townships are anxious to know the whereabouts of one Charles O. Wachob ! They would like to see him for various reasons, probably they would prefer seeing him to seeing the Wa[illegible]h railroad locomotive steam up and down through their respective townships, Mr. Wachob hasn't been in sight for nearly four weeks, however, and it is not likely that the warm weather will thaw him out. If he does turn up later on he will be accorded a warm reception by many of his short acquaintances in the locality named.

The desire by these people to see this gentleman is on account of his having purchased about two car loads of cattle, hogs and sheep from them, and shipping the same without making full settlement. It is estimated that the amounts due the various farmers will foot up to six or eight hundred dollars.

Perhaps Mr. Wachob will come back and make full settlement; perhaps his absence is due to illness or some other justifiable cause. The Reporter hopes Mr. Wachob will at least make an explanation to his creditors, and make known his whereabouts.

The cattle purchased by this Mr. Wachob were shipped to Hatfield—Centre Reporter.

Musical.

Although the weather was exceedingly cold a large audience assembled in the Hose House on Monday evening to listen to the Musical given by Mrs. Farish's Pupils, assisted by Miss Shields, Miss Brown and Mr. Fred Weaver.

The program was as follows:

1. Piano Duet: Miss Shields, Miss Brown.
2. Over the Ocean Blue: Mr. Bullock.
3. Thou art a flower: Miss Hill.
4. Song of the Sword from Opera Dolly Varden: Douglas Orbinson.
5. a. The Smuggler
   b. Asleep in the Old Bastille: Mr. Brown
6. Piano Solo: Mr. Weaver.
7. Toreader's Love Song; Mr. Bullock.
8. a. Mirage,
   b. Mignon: Miss Fitzgerald
9. Piano Duett: Miss Shields, Miss Brown.
10. The Bandelero: Mr. Curtin,
11. May Day: Mrs. Farish.
12. My Boat is Waiting Here: Mrs. Farish, Mr. Curtin.

All acquitted themselves so creditably that we cannot bestow compliments upon each individual, but feil as if we should like to make special mention of Master Douglas Orbinson, who reflected great credit upon himself and teacher by his rendering of the Song of the Sword.

A House-Warming Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Davis Boal gave a delightful house-warming party at their beautiful country home at Boalsburg last Saturday evening. Quite a number of guests were present from the immediate neighborhood, State College, Lemont and Bellefonte.

There was dancing in the handsome New Colonial ball room to the music of the Bellefonte orchestra and splendid refreshments were served. The old homestead has been entirely over-hauled and renovated at a large expense.

About the only thing that remains of the old original house are the walls. The paper in the big hall however has been on the walls for over eighty years. Mr. Boal has purchased the old hotel property at Boalsburg and will fix it up for the entertainment of his friends this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Osgood, of Colorado, are being entertained by the Boals at present.

After Game.

William Rossman, of Pleasant Gap, had quite an experience while hunting foxes in McBride's Gap, last week. His dogs took a trail that he supposed to be that of a fox, but proved to be that of a wild cat. The animal was treed, and Mr. Rossman opened fire.

The cat jumped a distance of about sixty feet to the ground, and ran down the mountain. A trail of blood was followed, which led to a deep cleft in the rocks where the ferocious little beast could be seen but not reached.

JAPS LAND TROOPS AT CHEMULPO

An Engagement Said to Have Occurred on Night of Feb 12.

The Emperor of Korea is Said to Have Been Dethroned by the Japanese—Important Railway Bridges Destroyed.

LATEST NEWS FROM FAR EAST

[Special to Republican]

PARIS, Wednesday, Feb 24.—In a dispatch from Harbin, a correspondent of the Matin says that ambulances are being sent in there from all parts of Russia, and that the Baltic railroad has furnished a sanitary train for 200 wounded.

A dispatch from Port Arthur published in Paris this morning denies categorically the reports of a new attack by the Japanese torpedo boats and says they have been repulsed with loss every time they appear in the roadstad.

The Russian Colony at Seoul has taken refuge in the legation at Chemulpo and in the office of the Russian East China Company, which is guarded by sailors.

The allegation is made, according to this dispatch from Port Arthur, that the Japanese have dethroned the Emperor of Korea and annexed the country.

A number of volunteers are coming into Port Arthur.

LONDON, February 24.—(4 a. m. Wednesday).—Cabling from Che Foo on February 23, a correspondent of the Morning Post says forty thousand more Japanese troops have landed at Chemulpo and it has received confirmation from the report that some Japanese have landed at Pigoon Bay, others at Talienwan, and that an engagement occurred the night of February 12.

The correspondent at Seoul, of the Daily Mail reports a panic at Ping-Yang, Korea, which is regarded as heralding the approach of the opposing armies.

According to the Standard's correspondent at Seoul the Japanese bombarded Port Arthur at intervals between the eighth and the fourteenth of February, causing however, only slight damage.

The report is confirmed, this correspondent continues, that seventy miles of railroad track and some important bridges have been destroyed between Harbin and Vladivostok.

If the latter report is true, it would be a great advantage to the Japanese, as Vladivostok is known to be very badly supplied, and it therefore could not long resist a Japanese attack. There is still, however, no news of actual operations of any kind.

Special dispatches from St. Petersburg give various sensational reports of a political nature.

The Telegraph for instance, says the Russian government has ordered its Ambassador at Constantinople to obtain the permission of the Porte for the exit of the Black Sea fleet, but, M. Zinvieff, the Ambassador, declined to make this request, and was able to give the Russian Foreign Office conclusive reasons for his refusal.

In a dispatch from Tokio correspondent of the Tibes says that some hundreds of Cossacks reached Conju, thirty miles south of Yalu River, the afternoon of February 20.

Thirty troopers crossed the river at Kazan, the same evening, thus arriving within forty-five miles of Ping-Yang, Korea.

It is understood the Diet will meet the middle of March for the introduction of the war budget.

The rumor that the Russian Vladivostok squadron has again put to sea lacks confirmation.

The Japanese fleet, under Vice Admiral Togo, again attacked Port Arthur, and captured four Russian torpedo boats by using Russian signals.

The German steamship Pronto, while leaving Port Arthur to rescue German womena at Dalny, was shelled by the Russian forts, and was struck fifteen times. The Russians mistook her for a Japanese torpedo boat.

Viceroy Alexieff and his staff arrived at Harbin, Manchuria.

Baron Hayashi, Japanese Minister at London, expressed the opinion that three months will pass before active military operations begin. The unexpected unpreparedness of Russia, he said, gives Japan opportunity to perfect her military organization for land operations.

The Vladivostok squadron set out to be[illegible]-Hobo late, but was prevented by a snowstorm from entering the Straits of Tsogaru.

Russia addressed a vigorous communication to the Powers, accusing Japan of violations of the law of nations at Chemulpho and Port Arthur.

Three hundred and twenty-five Russian sailors, rescued by a British warship from the sinking cruisers Variag and Korietz during the naval battle off Chemulpho, were taken to Colombo, Ceylon, for detention.

The Russian transports Orel and Smolensk, attached to the fleet which was ordered back from Jibutil, entered the Suez Canal on the way home.

The British steamship Rosalie, from Nagasaki, was captured by the Russians at Vladivostok.

The appointment of General Kuropatkin to command Russia's armies in the Far East is taken to indicate a keen appreciation of the gravity of the situation. General Kuropatkin is credited with being the Czar's ablest warrior.

Restriction of trade through failure upon the part of the belligerents to exclude foodstuffs from contraband of war is expected to cause international friction. The United States is interested on account of the enormous quantity of goods of this nature now on the seas bound to the Far East.

CHIFU, Tuesday, Feb. 23.—A dispatch from Tientsin received here says that another attack was made by the Japanese squadron at Port Arthur; that the forts and fleet were bombarded, and that four Russian torpedo boats were captured.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The Nagasaki correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, cabling under date of February 22, reports that the Japanese squadron has captured four Russian torpedo boats at Port Arthur by using Russian signals.

This dispatch appears to confirm reports from various quarters of a fresh attack on Port Arthur by the Japanese.

TOKIO, Feb. 22.—It is reported here that Vice Admiral Togo has again attacked Port Arthur. It is impossible to confirm the statement, but the Navy Department says it has had no news from Togo to-day. It is considered very probable that the Vice Admiral has made another attack on the Russians, as he is engaged in blockading Port Arthur.

Take This Precaution.

When the weather moderates, if history repeats itself, hydrants will close on accounts of the sluch in the pipes loosening and packing somewhere in the pipe. A visible "symptom" of a sick hydrant is the delivering of rust-coloring water. When this condition is observed the hydrant should be left open for a short time so that the slush will be cut by the fresh water passing through it.

Smallpox at Howard.

The reports which reach here from Howard are to the effect that an epidemic of smallpox exists in and about the borough, and that the spread of the disease is due to gross negligence on the part of the authorities of the town. The board of health did nothing and no quarantine was established until a few days ago after a visit to the town by Dr. Groff of the state board of health. A strange difference of opinion as to the diagnosis of those stricken with the disease seems to have been made, and whether it was chickenpox or smallpox, became quite an issue. Since it has been finally determined as smallpox those who insisted that no quarantine was necessary are being severely criticised and interesting developments in consequence of this apparent negligence are forthcoming. The citizens are very indignant and threaten prosecution. One resident of Howard declared that from 20 to 30 cases of smallpox exist in and about Howard at the present time. Since the visit of Dr. Groff the situation is being looked after, a quarantine is established and houses where the disease existed are being disinfected.

Barner Weds Barner.

Miss Nellie Elizabeth Barner, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Barner, in Nippenose Valley, became the bride of J. Wesley Barner, son of J. C. Barner, of East Nittany Valley, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. James M. Brennen, of South Williamsport, performed the ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Ruth McMurren, cousin of the bride and the groomsman, Edward Brownlee, also a cousin of the bride, Raymond Clark, another cousin of the bride, played the wedding march from Lobengrin. The bride was beautifully gowned in silk mulle with applique trimming.

After the ceremony and congratulations an elegant supper was served. The bride was the recipient of many fine presents. There were about 75 guests present, a number of whom were from Clearfield, Renovo, Jersey Shore, Williamsport and Lock Haven. The bridal couple will include the towns of Bellefonte, Bellwood, Altoona, Clearfield and Lock Haven on their wedding tour.

Pleasant View Chapel Gets an Organ.

The Union Chapel located at Pleasant View, just below town are the recipients of a handsome organ for their little church. It came to them free of cost and for this splendid gift, they are indebted to the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church of Bellefonte. The organ was formerly used in the Presbyterian Chapel but has been replaced with a new one.

The congregation at Union Chapel wish through the Republican to thank the donors for their kind and generous act.

SOME VACANT CHAIRS.

The Angel of Death has Entered Several Centre County Homes

AND CALLED HENCE LOVED ONES

William Alters, Mrs. Barbara Peck, Mrs. Calvin Harter and Mrs. Annie Ebbs are Among the Number to Answer the Final Roll Call.

BRIEF OBITUARY NOTICES

WILLIAM ALTERS.

William Alters died very suddenly at the home of his brother Jacob Alters, on Penn street, Millheim; Tuesday Feb. 16th of heart failure, aged 64 years, 8 months and 9 days. Mr. Alters was a veteran of the Civil war. He was a member of company C. 49th regiment, P. V., and served until the close of the war.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alters, and was born in Millheim, where with the exception of the time spent in the army, he spent most of his life.

He has left to survive three brothers and two sisters, viz: Jacob, of Millheim; Samuel, of Coburn; and John, whose whereabouts is unknown ; Miss Sallie, of Lock Haven, and Mrs. Kate Arnold, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by Rev. B. R. M. Sheeder, of the Lutheran church, and interment made in Fairview cemetery.

MRS. BARBARA PECK.

Monday night at 11:30 o'clock, Mrs. Barbara Peck died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Beardsley, at Lock Haven. Mrs. Peck has not been in good health for some time and recently was attacked with grip. On Saturday night she suffered a severe stroke of paralysis, her condition becoming so critical that no hope was entertained for her recovery. Deceased was aged 67 years and was the widow of the late George M. Peck. She at one time lived in Bellefonte but resided in Lock Haven for about 25 years, and her many acquaintances will regret to hear of her demise. She was a good mother, a kind neighbor and a friend to the friendless. Surviving her are two sons; Postmaster R. D. Peck and William Peck, of Castanea, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Beardsley; also one brother, Roland Hickoff, of Bellefonte.

ALFRED GINTER.

On the evening of Feb. 9th the silent messenger entered the home of Mr and Mrs. Jacob Ginter, of Sandy Ridge, and bore hence the spirit of their only son, Alfred, aged one year and 24 days. He had been ill with pneumonia and his sickness only lasted one day less than a week. His death is a severe blow to his parents. It is all the more sad because of the fact that they had two little ones that died near the same time about three years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Ginter have the sympathy of their many friends and the entire community in their sad affliction.

Mrs. Ginter is the daughter of Wilson Williams, of Martha, and her many friends in that neighborhood will be sorry to learn of her sad loss.

MRS. ANNIE EBBS.

Mrs. Annie Ebbs an aged lady residing at Lyontown, died at that place Sunday morning at ten o'clock. Death was due to old age. The deceased was born Nov. 8, 1816, and was therefore 87 years 6 mos. and 13 days old at the time of her death. Notwithstanding her advanced age she was a very neat sewer, and since the Holidays she has pieced a patchwork quilt of quite an intricate pattern which she presented to her niece, Mrs. Hunter Knisely of this place. Mrs. Knisely feels justly proud of it. The funeral took place last Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

MRS. CALVIN HARTER.

Died on Tuesday evening 16, after an illness of ten days. Her age was about 26 years, surviving her are her husband and two children (one a newly born babe). She was a daughter of Daniel Harter, of Marion twp. Three brothers survive: George, Harry, Walter; one sister, Mrs. M. S. Betz, all of Marion twp. Funeral services Friday morning from the house, three miles west of Jacksonville ; interment in the Evangelical cemetery at Jacksonville.

—We are sorry to note the serious illness of William P. Duncan, formerly of Bellefonte but now of Philipsburg, who has been sick since Tuesday of last week with what was thought to be the grip, but it was not until Friday that his condition became alarming. His sisters, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Tisson, arrived Monday from Washington. Mr. Duncan's many friends among the readers of the REPUBLICAN will join us in hoping for a favorable termination of his illness.

Ireland has suffered from two very poor crops of potatoes owing to rot. A new variety of potato said to be rot proof is commanding exorbitant prices as a result.

A friend asks us why it is that men will saw wood with a bucksaw for a living when they might earn more money by keeping poultry. We do not know. It is just ignorance, probably, that there is any better way.

While wheat brings 80 cents, corn 40 cents, beef $4.50, hogs $4, butter 25 cents and eggs 20 cents there will be no real hard times in this country. It takes fifteen cent corn and $2.50 hogs to get the business cogs of the country out of mash.

Congress has given the department of agriculture the large sum of $250,000 with which to fight the cotton boll weevil, a larger sum than has ever before been given by the government to eradicate a farm pest, but the stake is large, a crop worth $500,000,000 a year.

Ragweed and ironweed are two pests which are able to hold their own with blue grass and under certain conditions will sometimes entirely kill it out. If these weeds have a hold in the blue grass pasture, it is a good policy to run the mowing machine over the pasture just as they come into bloom.

A decent and God fearing farming community in the west recently had a lot of nice fat horse meat palmed off on them for steer beef. They ate it and pronounced it good. The man who played the joke on them showed his wisdom by leaving the community before the fraud was discovered.

The Scotch pine does well on the clay hills and also on the low and wet land. For southern Minnesota and northern Iowa we rate it as one of the best of our conifers up to the time it gets twenty-five years old, and then, like some ladies, it begins to lose its beauty and becomes a bit scraggly and ragged.

The invention of the reaping machine threw 26,000,000 men out of a job—that is, the machines at work today in the world represent the labor of that number of men. Eclipsing this story is the one that the falls of the Zambezi river, in Africa, if fully utilized, would result in turning 37,000,000 horses out to grass, giving a water power more than five times as great as that of Niagara falls.

Given plenty of corn in the fields and an open body of spring water, the wild mallard duck will winter as far north as latitude 42. Not far from where we live a large flock of these birds is wintering under the conditions named, while the ice is two feet thick in the river and the mercury down at times to 30 below zero. The migration of all our wild fowl is simply a question of securing food and water.

A very curious fact was brought to light lately. Right in the immediate vicinity of the location of the first creamery which was ever operated the farmers are now selling their milk to make twenty-five cent butter and buying oleomargarine for their own use. In this respect they are following the example of our Danish friends, who have done this for a long time. The oleo costs just one-half as much as the butter brings.

If that blue grass pasture seems to have sort of run out, become weedy, with bare spots here and there, get out your disk just as soon as the frost is out ten inches, put on four horses, load the machine with all they can pull and go over that pasture both ways twice, then give it a thorough harrowing and sow four quarts of medium clover to the acre before the last time over with the harrow. If you will do this, you will have no reason to find any fault with that pasture for a couple or three years anyhow. Nothing does blue grass so much good as to use it just as if you wanted to get rid of it.

We believe that any man owning a farm of 40 to 160 acres can well afford to pay more attention to poultry as a money maker for his farm. As it now is, the poultry is usually turned over to the women folks, and the men take little or no interest in providing suitable facilities or food for the hens, simply keeping them as free-for-all foragers, the men never taking any interest so long as they have what eggs they want to eat and fried chicken when the parson comes to dinner. The average return from hens left to take care of themselves is probably not far from $60 to $70 on the average farm homestead. This income might be easily trebled if proper breeds were secured and proper food, care and shelter provided. One sure way in which to add to the income of almost any farm is to take better care of the poultry.

The two problems of how to best spend money you have in hand and how to borrow money to buy something you think you want are very different propositions.

For fertilizing the field sow mammoth, for pasture and hay sow medium red, for pasture alone sow white clover, for the reclamation of wild meadow lands sow alsike clover, for the hog pasture sow alfalfa. The foregoing is the gospel of clover in a nutshell.

The stock shipper to the Chicago market has struck hard lines. He can neither get a free meal nor treat to the beers and must pay his fare home. He is in a mood to make things interesting for both the commission men and the railways if he can only get the chance.

Two years' trial has proved that macaroni wheat can be grown in the greatest abundance in those portions of the west where the rainfall is limited to ten or twelve inches per annum. Now we will have our own vermicelli, spaghetti and macaroni factories, where these food products will not be dried in some Italian's back yard along with the family washing.

A friend of ours, a young man, a farmer, has built up one of the best seed corn businesses we know of inside of three years by studying the corn plant, fixing a type suited to his latitude and applying common sense rules of selection. He is simply overwhelmed with orders for seed, all because his labor was rewarded by winning nearly all the best prizes for corn in a state competition. He may now grow all the corn he can and get fancy prices for it.

There are just four places to put the small and defective apples—make them into cider, feed them to the hogs, barrel them by themselves and sell them for what they will bring or try and work them off in the middle of a barrel of good fruit. Most men try their hand at the last method first and lose their reputation for honesty and good money besides. This petty and always unprofitable fraud belongs with the watering of milk taken to the creamery, the putting of tailings in the middle of the wheat sack and the filing off of the old rooster's spurs to try and pass him off for a spring chicken.

In the states of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, the four great corn producing states, there is a wonderful interest being developed in the study of the corn plant. Hardly an institute is being held this winter which does not provide for an exhibit of corn and the payment of good premiums for the best samples shown, [illegible] which does not devote at least a full half day to lectures and discussions of corn in all its phases from the preparation of the field for the crop to its final harvesting. The experiment stations are developing many new and highly important facts about this cereal, its type, pure breeding, culture and selection of seed, and enough undisputed testimony has been presented at these meetings to prove beyond a question that it is easily possible to increase the average yield of the cornfields at least ten bushels per acre.

Here is a little alfalfa story: A man six years ago came into possession of a farm in Ohio which had been skinned to a finish, the clay fields, baked or puddled, according to the season, refusing to produce even so poor a crop as ten bushels of corn to the acre. The farm was rated as worthless for any purpose. Without detailing all that was done by the buyer to renovate this farm, we will confine the story to what he did with one field. It was first reduced to as good a tilth as possible and then sown with twenty-five pounds of alfalfa seed to the acre, mowed three times the first year and the cuttings allowed to remain where they fell. During the next four years the field furnished an average of five tons to the acre of alfalfa hay, worth about $50. The field was then plowed up, and last year he raised thereon a crop of seventy-five bushels of corn to the acre, with the field in the best of condition for another crop. Perhaps this story may give some of our readers what is termed a hint.

While not promising boom prices for farm products such as prevailed two and three years ago, the year 1904 still holds out a promise for a large measure of agricultural prosperity for the farmers of the country. During the past year there has been a gradual settling of values down to a hardpan basis, the speculative element has been eliminated from all lines of business, the water has been squeezed out of inflated securities and values of all kinds, and all this has been done without serious damage to the country at large. There is a healthy demand upon mill, mine and factory for their products, but a modicum of unemployed labor, and all the American people are hungry every day, and the farmer must feed them. All the cotton, corn, wheat, oats, hogs, cattle, dairy products and poultry the farms can produce will be wanted at fair prices. To put things just right there should be a scaling down of at least 10 per cent in wages for farm help and all the commodities which enter into the farm expense account.

DANGER IN DRAINAGE.

Two wet seasons in the west have turned attention to the drainage of large sections of the country, particularly in Minnesota and Iowa, the crops on hundreds of thousands of acres of the low and undrained lands having been practically destroyed for two years by reason of the excessive rainfall. Some very extensive and expensive drainage propositions are now under way. A serious question arises in connection with this work. All drained lands rid themselves quickly of surface water. The rivers and main natural waterways of those states are of a capacity to care for a normal flow of water without serious damage by overflow. When these drainage schemes are all completed and the floods of an ordinary wet time released in a hurry from these lands it cannot be otherwise than that very destructive freshets will result for all the bottom lands of the streams which have to carry the water, and the disasters which befell Kansas City, Topeka and Des Moines last summer will become a common occurrence. These wet lands with their numerous ponds and sloughs have, undrained, served as reservoirs or feeders, the surplus water escaping slowly, but when they are drained out will go the water with a rush. Cities and towns built adjacent to such rivers will have to meet the problem of how best to guard against these aggravated flood conditions, for it will not be possible to prevent the drainage of the lands referred to.

FARM BOYS.

The farm is a good place on which to raise a boy—good place to develop him physically, to teach him morality and decency of conduct, to educate him on broad lines. But it could not be expected that these boys would all, or even a respectable minority of them, remain on the farm; neither would it be best that they should. There is an urgent demand for them elsewhere. In a physical sense, where are the nervy, pushing, aggressive citizens of the future to come from if not from the farm? Where are the bank, the great corporation and the big commercial concern to obtain men of the requisite energy and ability to plan and conduct our great modern business enterprises if not from the farm? Where does the state most look for rugged and loyal defenders of its national honor? To the farm boys. From where else shall the country secure that sterling worth, ability and integrity of character needed in our legislative and executive offices? It is as true as gospel that if it were not that a perennial crop of well born, sound and healthy country children, reared in an atmosphere of morality and patriotism, is continually available as material for future American citizens this country, great and grand as it is, would go straight to the devil inside of two generations.

ABOUT SEED CORN.

There is far more importance connected with the selection of seed corn than most corn growers think. A farmer in Ohio who raised 200 acres of corn annually had for years selected [illegible] by picking out the best ears when gathering the crop. He then tried this: He selected from his forty or fifty bushels of seed corn one bushel of the very best ears, which seed he planted in a seed patch by itself. From this he removed all the barren stalks and saved the best for seed. From this seed he selected a bushel of the best ears, which seed was planted in one patch, another patch with the corn from which this bushel was taken and the main field with corn selected as he had always done before. Now note the result: All the corn was treated alike in the matter of cultivation and grew in the same field. The corn from the selected bushel gave him ninety-seven bushels an acre, the second lot ninety-five bushels and the corn from the seed saved in the old way eighty-one bushels per acre, a difference of fourteen bushels per acre in favor of this method of selecting seed.

THE OHIO RIVER FLOODS.

One of the most marked illustrations of the evils of deforesting large areas of the country is found in the now certain annual floods in the Ohio river and its tributaries which come during February. The hills of western Pennsylvania and West Virginia have been stripped of forest growth, and the winter rains combining with the melting snows pour a perfect avalanche of water into the rivers in a few hours, causing immense annual losses as far down the Ohio river as Louisville, and while doing this the soils of the states named are being robbed by erosion of their most fertile elements. The destruction of the timber on the watersheds of our larger rivers and the complete drainage of the more level sections can but result in making the floods of the coming years far more frequent and vastly more destructive than in the past.

BLOSSOMING AS THE ROSE.

Here is a case where the desert has been made to blossom as the rose in a literal way—the turning of the water of a turbulent mountain river, fretting full in June with melted snows from cloud capped ranges, on to the desert wastes of a Colorado valley and converting $1.25 land into farms which are well worth $250 per acre and in the trail of the water growing such alfalfa, clover, fruit, potatoes, onions, melons, sugar beets and cereals as can nowhere else be found—perpetual sunshine overhead and water under the control of the crop grower. What could be more rosy than this?

Mrs. L. A. Miles of High street says: "I was very much troubled with my back and with rheumatism. My rest was very much broken from nervousness and the kidney secretions embarrassed me when my back was aching badly. I was told about Doan's Kidney Pills by a woman who came 17 miles to get them and she appeared surprised that I was not acquainted with their merits, I immediately went to the Bush Block drug store and got them. Well, they did any amount of good. I was astonished at the result of their use for the pain and lameness soon left me. They also banished the tired feeling I had mornings. I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. METHODIST CONFERENCE.

What is to be Done at its Next Annual Meeting in Harrisburg, March 23rd.

Four ministers will celebrate their fiftieth anniversary as preachers of the Gospel at a semi centennial services which will be held during the thirty-sixth annual session of the Central Pennsylvania conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in the Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal church, Harrisburg, during the week of March 23rd. These clergymen are the Revs. Samuel Creighton, of Mackeyville, Clinton county; Dr. D. S. Monroe, of Shamokin; George Warren, of Tyrone, and Richard Hinkle, of Everett, all of whom will make addresses at the semi centennial services.

During the conference six delegates will be chosen to go to the general conference, which meets at Los Angeles, Cal., the first week of May next. It has been the rule to send the five presiding elders of the various districts of the conference as delegates, but this year the conference may select the delegates from the list of pastors. Beginning Wednesday morning, March 23, with the celebration of the Lord's Supper, the business sessions of the conference will be held in the morning from 9 to 12 o'clock and will be presided over by Bishop C. C. McCabe, of Omaha, Neb. In the afternoons and evenings there will be anniversary exercises at which addresses will be made by some of the leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church in this country.

Rev. Dr. W. L. McDowell, of New York, secretary of the board of education, will address the anniversary of the Educational society on Wednesday evening. The same evening Rev. Dr. W. P. Thirkield, of Cincinnati will speak at the anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid society. Rev, Dr. Frank Crane, pastor of the People's Temple, Boston, will speak at the anniversary of the Temperance society on Thursday evening. Friday evening there will be a musical concert. The Missionary society will hold its anniversary on Saturday evening at Grace Methodist Episcopal church. The principal speaker will be Rev. Dr. A. B. Leonard, of New York, secretary of the Missionary society. The Rev. Dr. Joseph Smith, of Redlands, Cal., will hold a pentecostal service each day during the conference from 4 to 5 o'clock. The Church Extension society will be represented at the conference by the Rev. Dr. James M. King of Philadelphia. The Rev. Dr. Leroy Belt, president of Ada university, Ada, O., will visit the conference on Saturday and Sunday.

The lay electoral conference, composed of one lay delegate from each pastoral charge in the conference, will meet at 10 o'clock on Friday morning, March 25, at the Ridge Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. This conference will also elect six delegates to the Los Angeles conference. The Laymen's association, composed of two delegates from each pastoral charge, will meet at the same place on Saturday afternoon.

Wild Flower Preservation.

Civilized man and nature do not go well together. The preparing of the ground for cultivation and then making it produce a crop, puts an end to many of the plants which originally grew from the soil. The destruction of the forests for timber or for purposes of agriculture, destroyed the plants which once delighted in its shade, while the draining of the swamp kills those moisture-loving species which flodrish there in nature. All this is inevitable. When the problem of supporting a dense population—making money—is in question, nature must be destroyed or move on. Citization drives out or kills the animals first, but a little later she none the less surely drives out and in a large measure kills the plants.

In unfreqnented places—those not adapted to the growth of crops—the wild plants flourish a little longer, but if especially attractive by their beauty or their fragrance, they are gathered and carried away by those who fancy them with the same lack of thought for the future and consideration of others as is shown by the boy who crushes the butterfly under his hat.

In many places in New England the May flower, or trailing arbutus, is now entirely extirpated. In others the few plants that remain are carefully watched by persons who long for them, and as soon as the buds open the flowers are eradicated by those who thoughtlessly tear them away; thus for and hour's pleasure destroying the plant for the whole locality. The rarer flowers suffer still more, readily exterminated.

The harm done by such destruction is coming to be generally recognized, and there are a number of societies in the United States which have for their object the protection of the wild flowers. So also there is a society to protect the beautiful edelweiss growing on the Alps of Switzerland, which is now in danger of extermination, while in England the Selborne Society is urging the protection of ferns, primroses, and other rarer plants.

In Boston and in New York, and in other cities in America, there are wild flowers societies the sole object of which is the protection from extermination of such flowers. These efforts should appeal to all lovers of nature, but the botanists are especially interest.

Presbyterian Pastor Installed at Lewistown.

Rev. William L. Mudge was formally installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lewistown Wednesday evening, Feb. 17.

Dr. Mudge, the father of the pastor-elect delivered the sermon. Rev. R. F. Wilson, of Lewistown, delivered the charge to the pastor.

This was followed by a beautiful duet sung by Mrs. Harris Mann and Mrs. Joseph R. Mann.

The charge to the people was delivered by Dr. William Laurie D. D. LL. D., of this place, and the Democrat and Sentinel of Lewistown refers to him as Bellefonte's brainy Scotch minister. His address was in substance, as follows:

He stated, however, that it was not his intention to deliver a formal charge, but to say a few common sense things. The new pastor is a man and should be treated as a man. Don't put him on a pedestal, he is not a perfect man, not an angel. Yet he is not a common man; he is an ambassador for Christ, who sent him here. He is just himself and will do things in his own way. Take him for what he is. Don't expect him to do things like some one else. Love him, he can do more good than if you stand off. You can help him more in that than any other way. Meet him fully half way. This congregation is responsible for the reputation of the pastor. He has trusted his reputation to you. Uphold it. Say you have the best pastor in the whole Presbytery of Huntingdon. Encourage him in many ways and especially by your presence. It is hard to preach to pews. Work with him. Don't think that he can do everything. Everybody should work until the church is not big enough to hold the people. If he preaches a sermon that helps you, tell him so. Talk up the church. There is such a thing as talking down and talking up. Talk it up and it will go that way. Do not say an unkind word about your pastor. Above all do not say unkind words about your pastor before your children. Don't oppose his plans and worry him. He is here to do the best he can; stand by him. Don't tell him about the faults of others. Pay his salary on the day it is due. Lastly pray for him. These with other directions were given by Dr. Laurie with frank directness, many of them illustrated with incidents that gave them force as well as amused in some instances, and the congregation was strongly impressed with the wisdom and truth of his advice.

The installation prayer was offered by Dr. Laurie, the closing hymn was sung and the benediction was pronounced by the new pastor.

POWERS OF THERMIT.

German Savant's Demonstration of a Chemical Compound.

HOW IT CAN BE USED INDUSTRIALLY

Professor Hans Goldschmidt Shows American Mechanical Engineers at Hoboken, N. J., That the Compound Will Quickly Fuse Metals Without Radiating Sensible Heat—Nonexplosive and Does Not Burn on a Stove.

Before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers the other afternoon in the assembly room of the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J., Professor Hans Goldschmidt of Essen, Germany, described and demonstrated the remarkable powers of thermit in an illustrated lecture on alumino thermics and their application to engineering and metallurgy, says the New York Times.

By alumino thermics is meant the useful application of the heat generated by the burning of a compound composed of powdered aluminium and sesquioxide of iron. When fired by the application of a bit of magnesium tape, this compound burns fiercely, generating a heat equivalent to that of the electric arc. The oxygen to support this intense combustion is taken from the iron oxide, and the resulting products of the combustion are metallic iron and oxide of aluminium, or corundum. The fused combination is hot enough to burn a hole with clean edges through an iron plate of any thickness, according to the quantity of thermit burned, without heating the plate except at the point of perforation. The material is not explosive and if thrown upon a fire will not burn.

The industrial applications of thermit, some of which were demonstrated on the platform, were extremely interesting. Rails and pipes were united very quickly, and the unions were as good, judging from samples which had been planed, as the body of the metal. The joining of masses of iron by means of thermit is scarcely welding and might be more appropriately designated fusion.

Probably the most important of these processes is the one by which a continuous rail of equal conductivity, a necessity of modern electric railway construction, is obtained very quickly and cheaply. This union may be effected after the trolley track or third rail is in position and is much less expensive than adequate bonding. Third rail welding is now in operation on some twenty miles of electric railway in Paris, also on two electric railways connecting Berlin with its suburbs. Results of great interest to the engineer have also been attained with thermit in such difficult operations as mending the broken sternpost of an ocean liner, the Sevilla; repairing the broken driving wheel of a locomotive, welding a broken crank shaft on a Rhine steamer, correcting the defects of large steel castings and preventing the formation of pipes in steel ingots.

The operations with which the lecture of Professor Goldschmidt were illustrated were very brilliant and beautiful and gave results with astonishing rapidity. One of the most surprising of these was the fusing of a quality of nickel ore in a crucible in about one minute, giving a button of pure nickel of several pounds weight. There was no sensible heat radiated in these operations, and the assistant who managed the experiments did not even wilt his collar.

It was a matter of interest that these operations, requiring temperatures which can only be estimated for the reason that no pyrometer could measure them, could be conducted on a wooden platform with no other protection than some loose bricks laid side by side and covered with a sprinkling of sand. It was also a matter of curiosity that the operator, after pouring from a ladle the mixture of fused iron and corundum, could take in his naked hands the vessel in which this fusion had just been effected and turn its glowing mouth to the audience to show the intense incandescence of its interior.

THOUGHT IN PICTURES.

Heart Motions and Brain Cerebrations May Be Shown on a Screen.

The human heart running its race of life will be exhibited in motion pictures, shown upon a screen, and cerebrations of the brain may be similarly noted, according to the assertions recently made at Philadelphia before the convention of the Roentgen Ray Society of the Skiograph by Mihran H. Kassabian of Philadelphia and Henry Hulst of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The men aroused general attention by declaring that these anatomical movements may be recorded by changing shadows thrown on a screen. It was suggested that by the character of the thought shadows good thoughts may be distinguished from bad.

Oppressed Co-eds.

Now it is the co-eds of Stanford university that have a grievance. The order has gone forth that hereafter they shall not go walking with their young men after dusk. Only one exception is made, that in the case where there is a bona fide engagement existing between the young people.

Odd View of the Sun.

At the First Baptist church of Washington, Ind., the other night the Rev. W. A. Freeman declared that hell is situated in the dark spots of the sun and that the bright part of the luminary forms heaven.

RIFLE SHOT TROPHIES.

Two New Ones to Be Competed For by National and State Riflemen.

Riflemen, national and state, are taking an extraordinary interest in this year's rifle matches, and it is confidently predicted by those in authority that the present will be a "record" year in all the principal contests, says the New York Tribune.

This impetus to proficiency in marksmanship is due directly and indirectly to United States Senator John F. Dryden of New Jersey, who by his official and personal acts has furnished the country two of the most valuable trophies ever contested for on the rifle range. It was through Mr. Dryden's personal and persistent efforts that the military committees of congress last year agreed to insert a clause in the army appropriation bill authorizing for the first time "a national trophy, medals and other prizes to be provided for and contested for annually * * * by the army and national guard or organized militia of the several states and territories and of the District of Columbia."

This national trophy, coupled with an especially valuable and handsome one which Mr. Dryden recently presented, has naturally aroused a spirit of the keenest interest among those ambitious for honors for the small arm.

The Dryden trophy is to be shot for on the range at Sea Girt, N. J., under the auspices of the New Jersey State Rifle association. It is to be of bronze, 5 feet 7 inches high, mounted on an ebony base eighteen inches high, making a total height of about seven feet. The cost will be about $3,000. The general design represents a banner bearing on the front a wreath in relief and twenty-five convex disks for the names of the winners of each year. The panel at the top bears the words "Dryden Trophy." The letters themselves will be of 14 carat gold in relief. The figures of the infantryman (on the left) and marine (on the right) will be in full relief. The coat of arms of the state at the top will also be in full relief. The panel at the bottom bearing the inscription will be of bronze. The trophy will be open to teams from the army of the United States, one team from the troops stationed within each of the military departments; United States navy, one team; United States marine corps, one team; national guard or uniformed militia of the several states and territories, including the District of Columbia, one team from each state or territory.

BOYS DIVED FOR DIMES.

New Christian Endeavor Way of Inducing Newsboys to Bathe.

If any one has an idea that the Christian Endeavorers are sparing with their money those persons would have changed their minds if they had seen how eagerly they threw nickels, dimes, quarters and even half dollars into the north fountain at the courthouse in Denver for the sole purpose of compelling our street newsboys to take a bath, says the Denver Post.

"They have already begun good work," said one bystander.

This sort of new amusement did not fail to attract attention. There were about 150 of Denver's business men in the audience who began to enjoy this new fad and soon followed suit. One little fellow who had joined the money searchers came out $2.94 ahead; another who, besides getting rid of a layer of real estate about half an inch deep, had added $1.94 to his capital.

OMNIVOROUS MAN.

Reptiles Are Eaten With Eagerness All Over the World.

Reptiles are eaten with eagerness all over the world. Neither want of beauty nor abundance of venom protects them from omnivorous man. Although they suggest to us by form and motion all that is false and unfair, hideous and horrid, even God's curse of the serpent does not shield it, and from the humble frog of the pond to the colossal crocodile of Egypt they are all only so much food for men. Old Mexicans loved the speckled salamander and ate it with Spanish pepper. The Spaniards learned the odd fashion, and the habit has not entirely died out. Vipers are a favorite dish with Italians. The lizards of this continent are a most delicate dish, and the iguanas of the Antilles were carried to South Carolina in great numbers, the rice fields of that state being well suited to them.

Snakes find a ready market in many eastern countries. The giant of Java, which infests the pepper plantations and whose venom is fatal, is a favorite. The huge boa constrictor furnishes an exceedingly fat meat, and the negroes of its native country prefer it to the daintiest food of the white man. The anaconda of Brazil supplies the table of the poor, though the Portuguese use only the rich fat it produces. South American natives eat almost every kind of snake, and the far west has taught many a fastidious palate from over the sea to relish the fatal rattlesnake of our own country. Snake eating is more common in the United States than one would imagine.

STEAD'S NEW PAPER.

Features of a Daily Journal For London.

NO RACING AND NO STOCK REPORTS

English Journalist Says His Sheet Will Be a Home Paper and Cheerful—Girls to Be Messengers to Collect From Subscribers Complaints or "C. O. D." Orders.

London seems a fertile field for newspaper ventures, judging from the number of dailies that have sprung into existence during the last few years, says the New York Herald's correspondent.

Only recently Mr. Alfred Harmsworth's new Daily Mirror, a paper for women, made its first bow to the public, and now Mr. W. T. Stead is going to begin early next month a daily which will be almost entirely sociological in character.

Mr. Stead gave me some details as to the character and makeup of his new publication. "I hope not only to produce a paper," said he, "that will be good in itself, but at the same time create an organization among its subscribers for mutual purposes of co-operation. I think if I could manage to get 200,000 subscribers in London to whom I could hope to appeal each day, to whom I could deliver the paper at their own doors just at the time when the man has gone to business and the women and children of the household have an opportunity of reading it, great results might be accomplished.

"The Daily Paper"—and that, from all I could learn, is apparently the name Mr. Stead has selected—"will be an evening journal, delivered between 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning. It will consist of twelve pages and will be sold on the news stands for a penny. It will be a little larger than the Westminster Gazette and delivered at houses. The subscription will be a shilling per month or half a guinea per year.

"The messengers, who will be bright young girls, will be instructed to collect from each subscriber letter complaints or advertisements in envelopes addressed to the editor, and in this way I hope to get in personal touch with all my readers.

"Twenty depots, in time to be increased to sixty, will be established at various points in the city, at each of which I expect to have a 'poste restante,' which sort of thing does not exist in London now; a free telephone, circulating library, reading room or place to call and, I hope, an automatic restaurant.

"If a wife who has to stay at home wishes to send a message, all she will have to do will be to put it into an envelope in the morning, and in two hours it will be at the depot, the message will be sent on to the tradesman, the articles desired being delivered 'C. O. D.' in the afternoon.

"It is a great social experiment as to whether one can use a newspaper for social service. A newspaper is the only organizing center left to the world which is not necessarily sectarian or partisan. I shall be a sort of preaching friar who will be willing to act as a maid of all work.

"The Daily Paper will be a home paper. Everything will be kept out which one might not desire one's children to see. There will be no racing in it and no stock exchange reports. Thus I shall get so much more space. It will be intensely political, but not partisan, the idea being to cause the atmosphere of the home to permeate the whole empire. The paper is going to be cheerful. I shall be an optimist of optimists and try to find the goodness of badness and bright points of everything, including London fog and Mr. Chamberlain's fiscal policy.

"As to its contents, there will be a serial on the basis of an endless story, which will be based on events in the day's news. One page will be set aside for children.

"As to editorials, there will be a column leader and perhaps a column of occasional notes. About foreign news I shall not worry much at first. I want to localize the paper.

"There will be four editions, all published at the same hour, and one for each of the four divisions of London.

"The first number will appear Jan. 4.

"Another principle I hope to follow in the paper is of not hitting back when hit. I shall take it lying down and while in that posture see how I can do good to the hitter, though I rather fear this will be hard to live up to.

"There will be frequent cartoons and maps, two of the former appearing each day, original, borrowed, bought or stolen."

Mr. Stead told me he had also another subscription rate of a guinea a year, which entitles the subscriber not only to the Daily Paper and two other magazines, but also to an accident insurance policy for £100.

A WORD TO WOMEN.

Any sick woman is invited to consult by letter with Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. In an active practice of more than thirty years, assisted by a staff of nearly a score of associate physicians, Dr. Pierce has treated and cured over half a million women. All disease peculiar to women are treated with success. This consultation by letter is absolutely free. Every letter is treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Answers are sent in plain envelope bearing on them no printing of any kind. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A THOUSAND DOLLARS THROWN AWAY.

Mr. W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had lung trouble for over fifteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did; and thanks to this great remedy, it saved her life. She is stronger and enjoys better health than she has ever known in ten years. We shall never be without Foley's Honey and Tar and would ask those afflicted to try it." For sale by C. M. Parrish.

A NIGHT ALARM.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier of Mannington, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Refuse substitutes. For sale by C. M Parrish.

Mothers can safely give Foley's Honey and tar to their children for coughs and colds, for it contains no opiates or other poisons. For sale by C. M. Parrish.

—It's a mistake to imagine that itching piles can't be cured, a mistake to suffer a day longer than you can help. Doan's Ointment brings instant relief and permanent cure. At any drug strong, 50 cents.

GEO. W. REES, Secretary.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Complete Result of Spring Election all Over Centre County.

Owing to the fact that the Bellefonte Republican goes to press on Wednesday night we were unable to publish the full election returns last week but in order that our readers may have them for future reference we publish them this week. Although there was considerable cutting and slashing the indications are that Centre county is Republican if the proper effort is made to get out the vote.

The Medicine Show which was here about 9 days left and the prize winners were Lottie Cupp who received the ring, and Chaney Reese the chain and locket.

ROMOLA.

Another evidence of Curtin township's progressiveness is that a cornet band will be started here early in the spring. By frequent oyster suppers and direct subscriptions a goodly sum of money has so far been raised towards paying for the necessary instruments, which will be of the Disston make of Williamsport. Mr. John E. Yeager, a musician of much more than ordinary musical ability, has been chosen as the leader, and no better choice could have been made. A sufficient number of young men have been enlisted in the cause to fill the required quota of musicians. They are all worthy representatives of the community. Not to be outdone by the sterner sex, the young ladies have volunteered such service as they can render, and it is due to them and their influence that the weekly oyster suppers have been so well attended and so profitable financially. Last Saturday evening the weekly lay out was enjoyed at the residence of Mr. John David, while on the previous week it was at the residence of Mr. David Wensel. Although not strictly a resident of Curtin township, in fact being one of Bogg township's wide-a-wake school directors, yet the family's social interests are closely allied with those of Curtin township and all of them take a deep interest in the success of this new band which will be known as The Summit Hill Cornet Band. The boys propose to be in commendable evidence and ready to fill engagements during the coming political campaign.

Miss Annie Huffman of Philipsburg, has been spending a few days visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. David Wensel.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack DeGarmo of Lock Haven were guests of Mrs. Kathryn Miller for several days last week.

Miss Kuturah Long has gone to Tyrone where she expects to remain for some time.

The Mann school will wind up its term with an entertainment about the second week in April.

Miss Laura Oyler and Miss Emma Yeager left Wednesday of this week for Johnsonburg, where they expect to remain for some time.

There seems to be some misunderstanding in this neighborhood concerning the marriage license granted to one Mr. Noll. The party is known here as Mr. Wolf, while the county officials were evidently informed differently.

J. A. Fiedler and son Ralph spent Saturday and Sunday at their home in Williamsport.

NO MORE HEART DISEASE.

During the last two or three years very great improvements have been made in the treatment of the different kinds and stages of heart disease. Cases formerly considered incurable now rapidly recover under the new treatment. The well-known specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., will send a $3.75 course of his New Special Treatment free to any afflicted reader who will recommend it when cured.

This liberal offer is to demonstrate the great superiority of his new system of treating heart troubles, such as short breath, pain in the side, oppression in the chest, irregular pulse, palpitation, smothering spells, puffing of the ankles or dropsy.

They are the result of twenty-five years of careful study, extensive research, and remarkable success in treating weak, dilated, enlarged, rheumatic, fatty or neuralgic hearts. Each one requires a different treatment.

The treatments are carefully selected for each patient, as regards their age, weight and stage of each kind of heart disease.

The eminent Rev. W. Bell, D. D. of Dayton, Ohio, General Secretary of Foreign Missions, writes editorially in The State Sunday School Union: "We desire to state that from personal acquaintance we know Dr. Miles to be a most skillful specialist, a man who has spared neither labor nor money to keep himself abreast of the great advancement in medical science."

Rev. J. W. Stokesbury, of Fallport, Mo. had head, heart, stomach troubles, and nervous prostration. Three physicians failed to help him. He writes, "I regard myself cured."

A thousand references to, and testimonials from Bishops, Clergymen, Bankers, Farmers and their wives will be sent free on request. These include many who have been cured after from five to fifteen physicians and professors had pronounced them "incurable." Among them are: H, A. Groce, 504 Mountain St., Elgin, Ill.; Mrs. Sophia Snowberg, No. 282 21st Ave., S. Minneapolis, Minn., Mrs. M. B Colburn, Blessing, Ia.; Mrs. M. B. Morelen, Rogers, Ohio, and the presidents of two medical colleges, etc.

Send to Dr. Franklin Miles, 501 to 511 Main St., Elkhart, Ind., for Heart Book and $3.75 free Treatment.

You Are Only Half Existing If you Have

Not got a Piano in your home What is home without music.

OUR Line of STANDARD Made Pianos Consists of the Following:

Knabe, Hobart M. Gable, Schomacker, Blassius, Bruntbach, Estey &c.

A piano with a soul in it—that may be said of the Pianos we offer. It is this quality that makes a piano appeal to any pianist and vocalist.

Any type of Piano means much to a family, and the purchase of one is never regretted. The only regret possible is when an inferior instrument is bought. As the ear is developed the slightest imperfections begin to jar. Then when a reputable piano is heard, dissatisfaction ensues with one of less depth and high quality. We sell Pianos direct from factory to home.

Remember it is not how much on one, but it is how many sales we can make which enables us to sell high grade pianos at so low a cost.

Pianos Are on The Move and consequently our display from week to week consists of the NEWEST TYPES OF PIANOS from the leading manufacturers.

DER PENNSYLVANIER

Mischter Druckер!—Do kerzlich is en G'spaß gehäppent, was schier zu gut is for net in Eier iweraus geglichene Zeiting zu kumme. Es war noch en brächtiger Alterweiwersummer-Samschdag-Oweb. Mir hen vor's Hannebergers Stohr uf d'r Portsch gehockt un Stohries verzählt. Vor em Stohr hot en Bärl gestanne, wo noch en bar Krautblätter drin ware. En Kuh is kumme un hot ihr Kopp in's Bärl gesteckt for selle Krautblätter zu fresse. Wie se hot welle d'r Kopp rausziege, do hot des Bärl an die Herner festgesteckt. Des arm Vieh hot erscht d'r Kopp geschüttelt, awer es hot nix gebatt. Dann hot es anfange im Kringel rumzugehe, is awer iwerall webbergerennt, erscht gege en Poschte, dann gege en Bahm un hot dann schier en Wage umgerennt. Do sen d'r Fred und d'r Fränk d'r Weg kumme, ufgedreßt wie zwee Duhds, bekohs se hen welle ihr Mäd sehne gehe, weil ewe d'r regler Boh-Oweb war. En Weil hen se ah d'r Kuh zugeguckt un gelacht; dann awer segt d'r Fränk, er wot des Bärl d'r Kuh vum Kopp ziege. Er hot ah angefaßt, awer die Kuh war schun ganz vergelstert un is als im Kringel rumgebanzt, un er hot es net ferrig gebrocht. Do is d'r Fred beigesprunge un hot die Kuh beim Schwanz gepackt un d'r Fränk hot am Bärl gezoge. Eb nau des arm Thier vorher Schnitz gefresse un Wasser gesoffe g'hat hot, oder eb sei Angst ferchterlich groß war, weeß ich net. Awer enihau, was nau gehäppent is, kann ich net so exätlly beschreiwe; juscht so viel will ich verrothe, daß d'r Fred im nächste Abgeblick ausgesehne hot, as wann mer en große Hafe voll Latwerg iwer ihn geschmisse hät. Des Gejohl kennt Ihr denke, bekohs, es is en alte G'schicht, daß wer d'r Schade hot, ah net for d'r Spott zu sorge braucht. Es war, wie mer so segt, en Meß. Sei scheene helle Suht, was er zum erschte Mol gewohre hot un was dreißig Dhaler koscht hot, war komplietly rungeniert—die Flecke sen nie meh rauskumme. Daß er seller Oweb net hot kenne sei Mädel sehe, versteht sich bun selwert. Er hot ufkohrs noch en annere Suht gehat, awer er hot gemeent, es wär besser, wann er en bissel in d'r frische Luft rumlahfe dät.—

An's Kitzelderfer's Werthshaus is d'r anner Oweb ah en G'spaß basirt. D'r Kitzelderfer hot welle en Fässel Bier ansteche, hot awer den Spickel net kenne aus em leere Fässel rausbringe. Er hot browiert un gekloppt, awer es hot Alles net gebatt. Neiwe em Kitzelderfer wohnt en Watschemacher, was allfort muß Roth schaffe, wann an d'r Bierpump ebbes letz is ober wann es ebbes sunscht zu fixe gebt, un was eh guter Dschubsch is bun Wein, Bier un Whistie. Seller is beigeholt worre, un nochdem er sich en Weil abgeschafft hot for den Spickel rauszukriege, hot er gemeent, des bescht Ding wär, mer dät en Pund Bulwer in des Spundloch nei un dann en brennende Sigarstumpe reischmeeße, des dät den Spickel schuhr fetsche. Sell is gedhu worre. Weil awer des Fässel net drocke war, so hot des Bulver juscht zum Spundloch rausgehipt un en Schmohk gemacht, d'r Spickel awer war so fest wie vorher. Iwerdem kumme zwee Biertreiwer rei. „Nau werre mer's bal hawe," segt d'r Watschemacher; „des sen Leit vum Fach un reiße den Spickel raus, wie nix—mit em Maul, wann's sei muß." Beede hen gekloppt un gezoge, awer—nix kumm raus. Do frogt d'r Eent for en Hätschet un dann is er dran, hot die Reef abgeschlage, den Spickel mit sammt dem Faßbode rausgezoge un dann des Brett verhackt. „Do is Dei Spickel," segt er stolz; „ich hab gewißt, ich krieg en raus. Ihr versteht ewe alle mitenanner so Sache net."—„Sellerweg hät ich's ah gelennt," segt d'r Kitzelderfer.—„Jo, Alles gudt leicht, wann's eem ebber vormacht. So hot schun d'r alt Columbus gesaht, wie er sell Oi uf die Spitz gestellt hot," segt d'r Biertreiwer.—„Sell is allrecht," segt d'r Kitzelderfer, „awer nemm juscht ah des zsammegeschlage Bärl mit, ich will sell net uf meim Gewisse hawe. Un wann Du ungefähr en Bätent rausnemme wit uf Dei Erfinding, so sen mir all willens, zu pruhse, daß es ebbes ganz Neies is. Ich bin juscht bang, die Bierbrauer mache Oppositschen, weil se ewe so wohl kennte en neier Spickel gewe, wie en nei Fässel."—Verleicht werd seller Treiwer nau bees uf mich, weil ich des Ding verrothe hab.

LENT.

The season of Lent is a season set apart by a certain portion of the Christian church for prayer and fasting; but whether we do or do not belong to this portion, the idea of Lent is not without a lesson. Our age is a rapid one; we move forward with great strides toward an unusual material prosperity. Nor are we unmindful of what progress we would like to make in a higher way, and our great movements for good are often on as magnificent a scale as our more material advances. We are strenuous even in our charities and our religion. But being good on a big scale is not what is necessary. We need some quiet and reflection as well; we need time for thought on the conduct of things. Now and again it is good for a warrior in the battle to stop for rest and to count his strength; now and again it is well for a runner to pause and take account of his road, to refresh himself in a shady place for running. So for everybody a season when we are less active in endeavor, but more thoughtful, is a season to be welcomed and encouraged. We will do well as a nation and as individuals to take opportunity to relax from the "great handicap for sixpenny pieces" and do a little meditating." As we reflect, we may wonder whether or not so much of this scurry after money is worth while. We may wonder if so much doing and so little of real living is the best way to take things. It is not probable that we will be able to overturn the modern spirit or to regenerate the world; it is quite probable that we will all be compelled in one fashion or another to keep in the swirl; but pausing for a little while will do us no harm. The withdrawal into ourselves will enable us to get a little better acquainted with our own natures; we will see things more sanely, be the better able to estimate values, to distinguish the real from the specious. Action is great, but it is not everything; reflection counts, too.—Feb. Woman's Home Companion.

An Overworked Student.

Mahlon Weaver, a student of Juniata college, whose home is at Berkey, Somerset county, a few days ago astonished the students and the people in the vicinity of that institution of learning, while in his room, by suddenly screaming and yelling for a prolonged period. At first it was feared that overstudy had affected his mind, but later when he became quiet, in explanation of his unusual conduct he claimed to have a vision as the result of prayer. A few days previous to this a request had come to him from his home church that he become a missionary and he was much impressed by the responsibility of this call. Mr. Weaver is a senior in the Bible course and had been a hard working student. Some idea on physical culture and vegetable diet evidently became twisted in his head, as for several days he he would not go to the dining table, but subsisted on an abundance of nuts and fruit. This kind of menu with his arduous work, no doubt impaired his faculties. Mr. Weaver has gone to his home for a short rest.—Huntingdon News.

Aged Man's Buried Treasure.

Nine hundred dollars in gold coin was deposited in the Jersey Shore bank recently, that had been buried in an old mill at Nippenose valley for many years.

The treasure was the property of Christian Weider, owner of the mill and highly respected throughout the community in which he lived. Mr. Weidler, who was about 85 years of age, was taken sick a short time ago and Simon Sallada, an old friend of the family, volunteered to nurse him. When very low and thinking death was at hand the aged man directed Simon to go to the old mill, lift a number of flat stones near the water wheel and there he would find a pot of gold. Simon did as the old man bade him and there, sure enough, was the pot of glittering coins the old man had collected and hoarded for many years. Mr. Weidler lived on a farm about two miles from Ranchtown. Besides the grist mill and farm he possessed a great deal of real estate.

The mill is now managed by his son who inherited the real estate and gold upon his father's death which occurred Monday.

Wedding Bells.

At the Baptist church of Milesburg on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 17th. There was witnessed a very happy event in the marriage of Lemuel W. Watson of Snow Shoe and Miss Beulah M Peters of Milesburg.

Promptly at 4.30 o'clock Mrs. Edward Meyers began to play the effective strains of the wedding march.

The wedding party consisted of Messrs Guy Cox and Samuel Haupt as ushers Mr. Edward Peters as best man and Miss Bettie Haupt as bridesmaid and the bride and groom. They were met at the altar by the pastor, Rev. A. C. Lathrop, who pronounced the solumn words that made them man and wife. Some 60 invited guests witnessed the ceremony.

The groom is a well known young man of many excellent qualities. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Watson of Runville. The bride is the highly esteemed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Peters of Milesburg.

The bride was prettily gowned in a traveling suit of brown cloth. The groom were the conventional suit.

The newly married couple left for a short honeymoon trip on the evening train amid showers of rice and congratulations of hosts of friends. They expect to soon be "at home" to their friends in Snow Shoe where the groom is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson were the recipients of many beautiful and valuable presents.

Engineers May Be Uniformed.

There is said to be a possibility of the Pennsylvania railroad adopting a standard uniform for the crews of passenger engines. The suit that is being considered is one of lightweight blue duck with white trimming about the collar and cuffs of the coat ornamented on each side by a white keystone. Suits of this kind are being worn by the engineers on the official's private trains.

Shot the Bandits

How President Diaz Put an End to Train Wrecking In Mexico.

Incited to Action by Narrow Escape From Death--Execution of a High-born Outlaw.

"Recent threats to blow up express trains by railroad bandits unless large sums of money were deposited in certain places and by certain times should arouse the authorities to action. An end should be put to the system. The wreckers should be hunted down and exterminated like wolves shot on sight and life and property protected."

This opinion from an official undoubtedly voices public sentiment. Records show that during the last fifteen or twenty years more than 800 train robberies have been recorded and upward of 500 trains menaced or wrecked, many by men seeking plunder or revenge. It is a serious question, and there can be no excuse for such conditions to prevail for any length of time.

A few months ago the evil was rampant in the west. On Sept. 28 train robbers threatened to blow up Northern Pacific trains unless their demands were met on the spot. On Oct. 7 a part of the roadbed was destroyed by dynamite, a bridge blown up and money demanded. On Oct. 16 particulars were telegraphed of another plot on the same line of road. On Oct. 20 dynamite was discovered on the track of the Northern Pacific. Still more recently an attempt was made to dynamite a bridge on the New Haven road.

These instances are but a few of the many threats and attempts to destroy property and life in various parts of the country. The continent is wide, and the railways are many, and every telegraph operator knows that the public does not hear of all the wrecks, no matter how great the damage to property, unless lives are lost. So it is fair to estimate that the so called "reported" attempts to destroy trains and bridges do not represent more than three-quarters of the actual criminal outrages committed on railways in the United States.

When railroads began running in Mexico with American engineers and officials in charge it was the custom for the local magnates, bosses, alcaides, constabulary, politicians and policemen to insist on the trains stopping at any point along the lines at their pleasure, generally at the official's particular ranch or residence. This was endured until the railroads, with the assistance of the government, could enforce their rules and run the trains somewhat according to schedule time.

Local bandits had also been in the habit of exerting their political pull with the alcaides and insisting on being taken aboard or let off trains in the mountains or between stations anywhere at midday or midnight. On one occasion an American engineer informed the official that he was running the train, and he refused to stop for a political heeler who happened to be a friend of the local magistrate. The engineer was arrested and thrown into a vile, suffocating prison swarming with vermin. For weeks he suffered for want of food and water and was outrageously treated. Before the trumped up charge against him could be refuted and the matter brought to the attention of the government owing to the circumlocution of the judicial system and the hostility of the native authorities to the railroad system of Mexico the man became a wreck.

Such was the condition of affairs at the beginning. But a change soon came. Then hostility between the mountaineers and the Mexican government in regard to railroads was occasionally manifested.

Fortunately President Diaz, a progressive man, had narrowly escaped death when he was a general fighting for the republic. His enemies attempted to wreck the train he was on, hoping to destroy the man they could not capture or kill in battle. It was in the mountainous part of Mexico, where the road runs at high altitude around tremendous precipices and over canyons that make the famous Colorado lines seem like bridle paths in a city park in comparison. Diaz's experience was something that he never forgot, and soon after he became president of Mexico he made train wrecking a capital offense.

The country politicians and the local authorities, with their friends the bandits, were astounded and grieved that their ideal president should side with the Yankees, who had introduced railroads into that peaceful country, but President Diaz was inexorable, and one of the features of Friday "afternoons" was the shooting of the lordly ruffian who participated in train wrecking.

Every now and then some exceptionally good man, a perfect gentleman of wealth, breeding and supposed political influence, received the death sentence and was shot with as little mercy as the meanest mountain robber. The effect was tremendous. Public sentiment was staggered, and the evil was speedily abated.

One of the last persons to be executed was a youth, the promising son of a well known man in Mexico, the flower and idol of a noted family. His friends were sure he would escape the death penalty. Able lawyers were engaged to defend him. The boy's own father and relatives appealed personally for the young man; said that he was neither a robber nor a criminal; that he had only placed obstructions on the track in boyish mischief, thinking only of the sport in seeing a train leap down the mountain side.

The president was immovable. Neither the entreaties of parents and relatives nor the eloquence of distinguished counsel could save the lad. At the time appointed, on Friday afternoon, he took his place in the courtyard, where he was stood against the wall and shot like any other criminal convicted of murder. That put an end to train wrecking in Mexico.

In New York state, as in many other states, willfully wrecking trains of cars of any kind, steam or electrical, causing the death of human beings, is murder in the first degree and is punishable by electrocution. If done without deliberation or premeditation it is murder in the second degree. For train wrecking alone the penalty is twenty years' imprisonment. In California and some other states it is a capital offense.

DISARMING THE GODS.

How Chinese, Japanese and Hindoo Boys Prepare For School Life.

Among the eastern nations the beginning of school life is a critical time for the child. The priest or astrologer must be consulted to choose a lucky day. Every precaution must be taken to avert the jealousy of the gods, whose malice is especially directed against a fine boy.

The Chinese father who adores his son will take the utmost pains to convince the powers of the air that the boy is of no account. The child may be given a despicable name, like flea or chutze, a pig, or, more insulting still, he may be given a girl's name. The boy may be started off to school wearing a girl's dress and one earring, and if the deception is complete this will be the most effectual of all, for even the gods do not care for girls in China.

The Japanese schoolboy wears hanging from his belt a little red bag containing a brass tag with his name and his parents' name and address upon it. He must have his paper umbrella and his fan, and in a gray bag upon his arm is a jar of rice for his luncheon. This quaint little fellow has probably made his offering at his own private shrine to Tenjinsen, the god of penmanship.

When the Hindoo boy has found an auspicious day to begin school he is taken to the god of learning, Sarasvati. Here the little supplicant presents his offerings of rice and betel nuts and repeats the letters of the alphabet after the priest. Thus he is entered into the ways of knowledge in the very presence of the god.—Everybody's Magazine.

Cliff of Natural Glass.

A cliff of natural glass can be seen in Yellowstone park, Wyoming. It is half a mile long and from 150 to 200 feet high, the material of which it consists being as good glass as that artificially manufactured. The dense glass which forms the base is from 75 to 100 feet thick, while the upper portion, having suffered and survived many ages of wind and rain, has naturally worn much thinner. Of course the color of the cliff is not that of natural glass—transparent and white—but is mostly black and in some places mottled and streaked with brownish red and shades of olive green and brown.

The Tomb of David.

The tomb of David, king of Israel, is still pointed out to travelers in Palestine and, despite its age, is in a remarkably good state of preservation. David died in 1015 B. C. and was buried in the "city of David." His tomb became the sepulcher of several subsequent kings and one of the sacred places of the kingdom. It stands on Mount Zion, at Jerusalem, just outside of the city wall.

OTHER EASTERN WAR NEWS.

[Special to the Republican]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 17.—(11p. m.) The rigid censorship imposed here upon all news from the Far East completely masks the movements of Russian troops and the plans of those in command, but what is being done is evidently satisfactory to the authorities here, as they manifest the utmost confidenoe that when the proper time arrives the ememy will be crushed. They say that the preliminary sea victories of the Japanese will then be speedily forgoten. Russia was taken unaware at the outset, and some little time will be required to complete the mobilization of Russian troops, There will be no disposition to meet the evident wish of the Japanese to rush matters to a decision.

"Russia can afford to wait," is a common expression heard here, and time and patience always have been strong allies of the empire of the north.

COLD WEATER AN ALLY.

Moreover the excessively severe winter weather at the scene of war, it is averred, also fights on the side of the Czar's legions, as it did in the days of Napoleon, when the Russian proverb, "January, February and March are among the Emperor's ablest generals," was coined. At Port Arthur todey the thermometer registered two degrees below zero, Fahrenheit. The concentration of Russian troops will proceed as rapidly as possible, but it is fair to assume that Viceroy Alexieff will not take the aggressive until he feels certain of his ability to administer a decisive defeat. Therefor, in spite of the extensive landing operations of the Japanese troops, an important land fight is not considered here to be imminent, although it is believed that the passage of the Yalu river bo the Japanese will be disputed. In the meantime, troops are constantly going to the front from all parts of Russia, and some distinguished officers in the service of the Czar are leaving for the Far East. These include Gen. Zhitinsky, who is to succeed Major-Gen. Pflug as chief of staff to Viceroy Alexieff; Gen. Liapanoff, Governor of Sakhalin Islands, in the north Pacific. and Gen. Tserpiysky, Gen. Von Sosonkampf has been appoinred to command the trans-Baikel cavalry, which was reported as going out under Prince Louis Napoleon.

LONG AND BLOODY WAR.

The various societies throughout Russia interested in the Red Cross movement are showing remarkable activity, and judging from the preparations which are being made for the sick and wounded, the war is destined to be a long and bloody one.

Voluntary contributions to replace the ships already destroyed by the enemy are already assuming large proportions, one man having given the sum of $20,000. I was through a similar movement that the present volunteer fleet was started after the Russo-Turkish war.

The report of a massacre of Jews near Kieff is denied by the Minister of the Interior, and the Associated Press is authorized to say that the affair was confined to the infliction of slight injury upon three Jews. Last Monday, while a crowd was indulging in a patriotic demonstration at Kieff, some Hebrews began shouting "Down with the Czar" and the crowd promptly punished the culprits, who were rescued from a wors fate by the timely arrival of the police.

PARIS, Feb, 18.—An eminent military authority connected with one of the embassies said today that Port Arthur was practically besieged and it was a serious question whether this would not compel either the abandonment or the surrender of the fortress with its men and material. The grounds for this belief were stated to be as follows :

"Admiral Togo's ships on the watch at the entrance of the Port, prevent ingress or egress, thus establishing a virtual blockade and cutting off the chances of relief from seaward. The Japanese troops near New Chwang and other points on the Liao-Mung peninsula are able to interrupt the railroad forming the line of communication and supplies between Port Arthur and Harbin.

"The result is the gradual investure of Port Arthur with the Japanese naval and military lines. It will require a bold action on the part of Russian forces to prevent the final accomplishment of the investure and slow reduction of Port Arthur."

VICEROY ALEXIEFF'S REPORT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 18.—A long official dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff was given out today recounting details of the fight of Feb. 9, at Port Arthur. It does not enumerate the Russian casualties and says it is known that a number of Japanese ships suffered severely which accounts for their not following up the attack.

After giving a full list of the ships engaged, with the names of their commanders, Admiral Alexieff says:

"According to the reports of the commanders, the men fought exceedingly well on which account, in virtue of the imperial authorization, I have conferred six crosses of the Order of St. George on each company of the first and second class war ships having crews of over two hundred men, four crosses on each company of all other ships of the second class, one cross on each torpedo boat, one cross on the signal station at Golden Hill, which operated under the heavy fire of the enemy; four crosses on battery No. 15, three on battery No. 13, and one cross on a gunner who, though severely wounded, returned to his battery.

"Our losses were : Of the squadron—five officers wounded, fourteen men killed and sixty-nine men wounded.

"Of the fortress and garrison—one man killed, one man severely wounded and five men slightly wounded.

"In announcing the above to your Majesty, I am pleased to be able to add that the naval and land forces in the land forces in the Far East are inspired by the most heartfelt wish to meet their insolent foe breast to breast, in order to fulfill their duty in sight of their adored ruler and, firm and unshakeable, to fight for the honor and glory of their beloved fatherland."

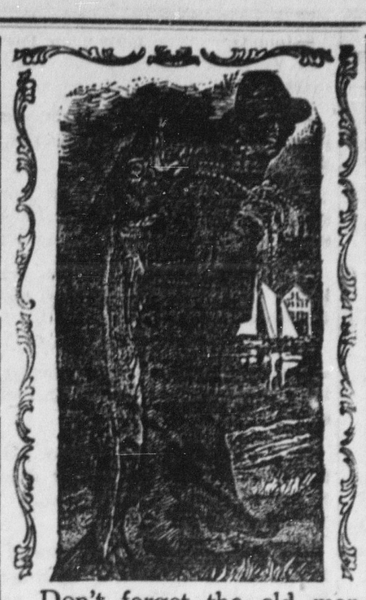
Hall's Family Pills are the best.



Don't forget the old man with the fish on his back.

For nearly thirty years he has been traveling around the world, and is still traveling, bringing health and comfort wherever he goes.

To the consumptive he brings the strength and flesh he so much needs.

To all weak and sickly children he gives rich and strengthening food.

To thin and pale persons he gives new firm flesh and rich red blood.

Children who first saw the old man with the fish are now grown up and have children of their own.

He stands for Scott's Emulsion of pure cod liver oil—a delightful food and a natural tonic for children, for old folks and for all who need flesh and strength.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409-415 Pearl Street, New York 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

BRIEF MENTION

—There will be no stay at home voters next fall,

—Time to turn attention now to the March primaries.

—Mrs. C. C. Shuey is seriously ill at her home on High Street.

—A bouncing baby boy is the newest thing at the home of William Wolf on East High street.

—The Colonel Monroe article is unavoidably left out of this issue but will appear as usual next week.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. Naginey entertained a large party of friends Tuesday evening at their handsome new residence on East High street.

—Mrs. A. O. Furst entertained a party of friends at dinner Wednesday in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Will Chamberlain, of Harrisburg.

—J. Milton Furey, a former Centre countian, was elected an alderman of the Second ward of South Williamsport borough at the recent election.

—The extreme cold weather is killing the trout in Massachusetts and it may be playing the same havoc with the speckled beauties in our mountain streams as well.

—The Pennsylvania Millers' Mutual Fire Insurance office, which has been located at Huntingdon since its organization in 1868, will be removed to Wilkesbarre in April.

—Who is the most popular young lady in Centre county? The Bellefonte Republican will ask its readers to decide this question. Watch for full particulars next week.

—Joseph Gross, formerly of this place, but now of Johnstown, is ill in the hospital there with small-pox. His brother Jacob Gross went to Johnstown the past week to see that he had every comfort.

—"'Squire" G. H. Hills, aged eighty years, the oldest male residents of Mill Hall, celebrated his birthday recently, and among the gifts was eighty dollars from his son, Philip, living in the west.

—Miss Mary V. Rhone, daughter of Hon. Leonard Rhone, who is a clerk in the State Dairy and Food Department, is ill at her boarding place in Harrisburg, being threatened with pneumonia.

—Doctor J. Melvin Locke has moved into his handsome residence on North Allegheny street. Dr. Locke has installed a splendid steam heating plant which he is very proud of and glad to show his friends.

—Mrs. James Quinn, a lady about 85 years old residing on East Logan street fell on Friday afternoon and injured herself so bad that she had to be taken to the Bellefonte Hospital for treatment. The old lady's condition is reported as very serious.

—Col. Wilbur F. Reeder announces himself in this issue as a candidate for delegate to the National Republican Convention. Col. Reeder is one of our foremost citizens and we know of no one better fitted to represent old Centre in the coming great gathering of Republicans at Chicago.

—Harvey Yarnell aged about 57 years, died Saturday of Heart trouble at his home in White Hall. The deceased was a highly respected resident of the town and a member of the Presbyterian church. He is survived by his wife, 6 sons and 3 daughters. The funeral took place Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment in the White Hall cemetery.

—Dr. George F. Harris is arranging to move his office from his present quarters in the Crider building to the two east rooms in the Curtin residence on High street, which he is now having remodeled and fitted up for the accommodation of his large practice. For greater convenience, as well as privacy, a door is being put in so that patients will have direct entrance to the reception room without going through the main hall.

—John Forster Duncan, a prominent citizen of Lewisburg, died there at noon on Thursday February 18, 1904. He was born in Millheim Nov. 26, 1853 and was the son of William Cook Duncan. He was Vice-president of the Union National Bank, Superintendent of the Gas and Electric Light Company and an extensive dealer in lumber. He is survived by his wife and two children. The funeral occurred Monday at 2. p. m.

—Last Friday evening Mr. David Kelly gave a stage dinner at his residence in honor of Mr. Robert Morris who departed Wednesday for South Carolina. A party of eight congenial young gentlemen gathered around the festive board, including DeLaun Stewart, John I. Potter, Wm. T. Kelly, Hard P. Harris, Thomas Beaver, Robt. Morris, George L. Beezer, and mine host, David J. Kelly. The only shadow cast over the full enjoyment of the occasion was the thought of the near departure of Mr. Morris.

—John Gross has moved his family from Valentine street to North Thomas street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ross A. Parker are rejoicing over the arrival of a bright little girl at their home, Monday.

—Mrs. Henry Walkey, of West Logan street, and Mrs. Sarah Wagner of South Spring street are both quite seriously ill.

—Twelve new members were taken into the Methodist church Friday night. Revival services will continue this week.

—Mrs. Mitchel I. Gardner entertained a party of friends at dinner Monday at her hospitable home on North Spring street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy entertained a large party of friends at dinner Thursday at their beautiful home on West Linn street.

—Mrs. Frank Beezer was operated on Friday night at the Bellefonte Hospital for appendicitis. The operation was a success and Mrs. Beezer is reported as getting along nicely.

Married—At the Methodist parsonage by Rev. John A. Wood Jr., Wm. H. Macker, of Port Matilda, and Annie M. Rockey of Fillmore. The ceremony took place Thursday morning at 9o'clock.

—It will be the most terrible war in history, when Gen. Jabberouskiowskykomok, meets Gen. Yipiyifushanniyo on the banks of Lake Ircotijuskinyull the consequences will br appalling to think upon.

Supt. Samuel Rine and his men were kept busy last week thawing out water pipes for consumers of water. There were thirty complaints sent in Friday. He also inspected all the fire plugs in town and found them, we are glad to say, in good condition.

—Secretary Kalbfus, of the Pennsylvania game commission, Friday passed through this city accompanied by thirteen or fourteen Philadelphia men whom he was taking to Karthaus. They are charged with running deer with dogs in that vicinity.

—Just as we go to press word reaches us of the sudden death Fri. evening in Philadelphia of Miss Jane R. Potter, of Linden Hall, sister of John Potter, of Milesburg. The remains were brought to Linden Hall Sat. evening.

—John Snyder will follow Adam Neese as tenant on the farm of Samuel Bruss, east of Centre Hall. Henry Zeigler, of near farmers Mills, will move where Mr. Snyder vacates. The latter farm is the John Bitner property, now owned by Prof. H. C. Rothrock, of Salona.

—Thomas, aged about four years, son of Perce Trexler, of Beech Creek, pushed a piece of colored crayon or wax pencil up one of his nostrils several days ago. It caused the little fellow much discomfort and attempt to remove it were futile. He was given in charge of Dr. S. J. McGhee, who successfully removed it.

—The Bellefonte School board has practically decided to build a new school building this summer on the Spring street end of the Public school commons. It is to take the place of the Midway. They hope to have it completed for the Fall term of school. This will spoil to a certain extent Bellefonte's only park but will be of advantage to the pupils, affording them better facilities than the old building on West Howard street does.

—John Anderson, a Huntingdon Reformatory inmate known as No. 3791, died at that institution the other evening of acute phthisis. He was 22 years of age and was sent there from Lawrence county, his crime being felonious burglary. Chicago was his birth place but his parents dying while the boy was young, he became a wanderer. A sister is living but for years he had not known anything of her whereabouts.

—Friday evening Miss Blanche Kunes entertained a score of her lady and gentlemen friends in a delightful manner at the handsome home of her father, Samuel H. Kunes, in Eagleville. The pleasures of the evening were continued until a late hour and cards of all kinds were the chief form of amusement. The favors were white and pink carnations. At a seasonable hour the guest were served with delicious refreshments. The occasion was one of great pleasure and highly enjoyed by every one present. Several were present from a distance.

—A month ago Christian Crimmel war appointed traveling engineer on the Middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad with headquarters at Mifflin, his duties being to ride on engines running on the division and instruct engineers and firemen as to their duties. About midnight Wednesday night he was riding engine No. 2145, hauling a west-bound freight train, and at Granville it ran into a "light" engine standing on the track. Both engines and five cars of the train were wrecked. The engineer and fireman of 2145 jumped and escaped injury, but Crimmel was caught in the wreckage and his life crushed out. He was aged 39 years. He was married five years ago to Miss Hannah Shaffer, who survives with one brother, John Crimmel, of Altoona, where the deceased had resided for many years before going to Mifflin. He had been in the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad company many years.

COUNTY ITEMS.

An epidemic of measles is prevalent among the children of Rebersburg.

Samuel Barr, who has been living in different sections of this state for quite a number of years is now visiting his boyhood home at Shingletown.

On Monday afternoon the 15th about 3 o'clock the house at Gilltown, one half miles east of Pleasant Gap, occupied by John Moyer and son David, burned with loss of what goods were on the second floor.

Indications point to a large attendance at the spring term of the Boalsburg Academy. The new features of free tuition to the meritorious, due to the generosity of Mr. Theodore Boal should be quite a drawing card.

Edward Zimmerman, of Millheim, is moving his saw mill to the Shingletown Gap, and will begin operations before very long. This will be quite a blow to the sport of the nimrods as it has been a favorite retreat for the deer.

The dwelling house on the Daniel Snyder homestead, near Salona, occupied by Oscar Knapp, was destroyed by fire. Mrs. Knapp and several small children were at the house when the fire occured. The furniture, etc., was all burned. No insurance.

Dollar wheat, the dream of the farmer, will soon be a reality in this county if prices keep advancing. War news always raises the price of wheat and during the past week the price has advanced to 90 cents. This is the highest it has been since the exciting days of 1898 when in some instances wheat sold at a dollar and a half.

One evening last week Cornelius Musser, who lives on the Forster farm at Centre Mills, started with his family to visit his brother, William H. Musser, at Smithtown. When he was descending the hill near Charles Grimes' the horse he was driving became frightened at a large pile of paper wood stacked along the road, and, becoming unmanageable, ran away, upsetting the conveyance and throwing them out severely injuring Mrs. Musser. The horse was caught after running a short distance and was found to have sustained severe injuries.

The swindler is much in evidence in many parts of Pennsylvania. His choice field of labor is among the farmers, who, for the past few years, have been getting fair prices for their stock, etc., giving the best financiers a surplus, although others are not totally shunned by the sleek-tongued. When dealing with a stranger you should place no more confidence in him than you would in your neighbor, and you well know that were your next door neighbor to make a proposition such as does the swindler, he would at once be ordered from the premises—and justly too. Avoid the stranger.

A large assemblage of friends gathered last Wednesday at the home of Rev. M. C. Frick, pastor of the Disciple church, Eagleville, and besides having a good sociable time, did considerable work. The men chopped wood and did other favors for Rev. Frick which were of considerable benefit to him, while the ladies cleaned the interior of the church and assisted Mrs. Frick in the preparation of a bountiful dinner which she and the pastor gave to their guests 65 being served, receiving in return a silver collection. This was applied to the small balance owed on the carpet, which was recently laid on the floor of the auditorium of the church, and the debt was wiped out. The occasion was very pleasant and much enjoyed by those present.
